B. Description the application: Request is hereby made to demolish an existing, two story, single family seasonal dwelling which does not meet current construction and flood code requirements, and has ten pre-existing bulk nonconformities associated therewith as reflected on the Plans which are included with this Application. The proposed replacement, year-round, single-family dwelling will reduce the pre-existing number of bulk nonconformities from ten to six, and of those remaining six, four will be improved from their existing conditions. Two additional Variances are being requested, being brought about as a result of the desire to add a third habitable floor, conforming in area when compared to the floor beneath it, but which addition requires a Height Variance and a Floor Area Ratio Variance due to the additional square footage contained in the proposed third habitable floor. The current dwelling contains 1140 square feet, while the proposed dwelling is to contain 1400 square feet, with most of the additional 260 square feet of area being within the proposed third habitable floor.

6) When Variance approvals are requested:

a. Describe the exceptional conditions of property preventing application from complying with Zoning Ordinance.

b. Supply a statement of facts showing why relief can be granted without substantial detriment to the public good and will not substantially impair the intent and purpose of the zone plan and zoning ordinance.

The current single-family structure located on the subject property is a seasonal residence which is not heated or air-conditioned and contains 1140 square feet (+/-) of living space which property is sufficient for seasonal use, only. The Owner/Applicant is a Professor at Dartmouth University in New Hampshire, is approaching retirement and wishes to make his permanent home in Ocean City at this location upon his retirement, as the location has a significant family history which the Owner/Applicant wishes to preserve.

The current building has ten, pre-existing, bulk nonconformities associated therewith, including front yard setback, rearly yard setback, individual side yard setback, combined side yard setback, building coverage, impervious surface coverage, off street parking, street trees, floor area ratio and maximum roof eve. The proposed structure will reduce the ten pre-existing non-conformities to six, as impervious surface coverage will be brought to conformity; off street parking will be brought to conformity; street trees will be brought to conformity, and maximum roof eve will be brought to conformity. Additionally, four of these six remaining non-conformities will be improved from those which currently exist, including front yard setback, side yard setback, total side yard setback, and building coverage. Two new Variances are being requested, a Height Variance and increase in Floor Area Ratio Variance to permit the proposed dwelling to contain a third habitable floor which is conforming in area when compared to the floor below.

The proposed building will be fully compliant with flood elevation requirements, as well as all construction requirements, and the proposed building will contain architectural and finish material, as well as architectural design, which will place it harmony with the existing properties to its west in the subject half block which has been undergoing redevelopment in recent years. The proposed building will be similar in size and height to the properties located to its west in the subject half block, all of which, as indicated, have been recently re-developed and received variance relief in order to accommodate that redevelopment. Even though this proposed building requires a Height Variance, it will not be any higher than its neighbor to the West at the corner of 1st and Bay Avenue.

This property presents a "unique" situation to its owner, as well as significant hardship for redevelopment. It is the smallest lot in the portion of the North End Neighborhood north of 5th Street. The only lots that are smaller than this lot within the North End Neighborhood are those to the south of 5th Street which contain row homes which have zero side yard setback. This is the smallest lot in the entire zone which is subject to development with a detached, single family dwelling. The Height Variance is brought about because this property happens to be adjacent to an existing alley. Were it not adjacent to an alley, its height would be conforming as reflected by the redeveloped properties to its west which did not require Height Variance relief.

The size of the lot and the lot being adjacent to the alley present exceptional practical difficulties in order to provide two off street parking spaces for the property which must be accessed from the alley and required substantial design efforts to accommodate the two onsite parking spaces for the property. The traditional ability to enter the rear of the property from an alley for parking space access cannot be accommodated by this property given its size and location. Realistically, this particular lot is one of the most challenging lots for development under current Ocean City Zoning Standards, based on its size and location, to accommodate a modest, single family, year-round residence. Its overall situation is "exceptional".

Accordingly, this is one of those cases where the C-1 criteria apply to the Bulk Variance requests as a result of the lot size, shape and location, and C-2 criteria apply for the Bulk Variances as the new dwelling will be beneficial by coming into flood and Construction Code requirements, as well as becoming more harmonious with the existing structures to its West in its half block. The proposed home is similar to those which exist, as to its overall size, configuration, design and materials associated therewith. It is respectfully suggested it will provide an attractive neighbor to those properties and create a harmonious relationship among the four properties completing the redevelopment of this subject half block.

The "special reasons" supporting the Floor Area Ratio Variance as a result of the increase in floor area ratio are the aesthetics associated with the new property, the flood and Construction Code enhancement associated with the new property, the harmony associated with the new property in relation to the other properties in this half-block and the extreme hardship/unique situation this particularly configured lot, its size and location place on its redevelopment with a modest, single family home suitable for year round living. Virtually all of the increased area associated with the floor area increase is brought about as a result of the third habitable floor which, as indicated, from an area content standpoint, is conforming to Zoning standards for such a third habitable floor when compared to the floor below.

Finally, as indicated earlier, this property has significance to the Owner/Applicant due to it being a part of his family for an extended period of time. While this Application which, on first review, appears to be requesting substantial Variance relief, in reality, a reasonable review of the situation in which this property finds itself, as well as how the proposed dwelling compares to the existing dwelling, it is apparent that Owner/Applicant is attempting to remove and improve a number of the Bulk and Code nonconformities associated with the current building, but is required to request a Height Variance due to the fact that this lot happens to adjoin an alley, rather than being a non-alley lot, as well as a Floor Area Ratio Variance in order to add a third habitable floor which conforms to the requirements for its size when compared to the floor beneath it. While the Floor Area Ratio for the proposed building is an increase from the existing building, in reality, virtually all of the additional square footages within the proposed third habitable floor, which is within the footprint of the existing building, which footprint, in point of fact, is smaller than that of the existing building.

7) All applicants must complete the following, as applicable:

Type of construction: (frame, stone, brick, cement)	wood frame
Present use of existing building(s) and premises:	single-family dwelling
Describe any deed restrictions affecting this property:	none

RE: Application PBA20-003 Shaiko 6 First Street Block 111, Lot 12 Ocean City, Cape May Co., NJ THG Project No. 32331.01

Dear Mr. Chairman and Members of the Board:

In support of the above-captioned application, we were asked by the applicant to compare key lot characteristics of the subject parcel to that of other parcels within the North End Neighborhood zoning district. Our investigation involved identifying the lot area, width, and depth for each parcel within the NEN zone and comparing it to that of the subject parcel. Attached you will find a spreadsheet summary for each of these characteristics utilizing a color gradient scale together with an overlay rendering of the tax map using the same color gradient scale.

Following are key observations and conclusions from this investigation that support granting of the requested variances for this application.

NEN Zoning District:

The NEN zoning district lies between North and 8th Streets, between West and Bay Avenues. It is bifurcated by the band of public space between 5th and 6th Streets, resulting in a "Northern" and "Southern" portion. There is a total of 240 and 113 properties respectively in the Northern and Southern portions for a total of 353 parcels in the district.

Subject Property:

The subject lot is a 24' wide x 50' deep lot totaling 1,200 square feet, with alley frontage. It is located at the intersection of Block 111's alley and 1st Street within the larger, Northern section of the NEN district.

Ocean City Zoning Board Members Application PBA20-003 Shaiko September 30, 2020 Project No. 32331.01

Significance of Fronting on an Alley:

- The building height for lots less than 45' wide without alley access that provide parking beneath the building is measured from a point 9'above grade. This is to promote and allow on-site parking while still allowing the building to constructed with the 2 or 2-1/2 stories typical of a single family dwelling in this district.
- In the NEN zone, non-alley lots with less than 2,400 sf of lot area are permitted a full 3 stories, compared to the 2.4 stories otherwise permitted in the zone. This recognizes the practical difficulty in developing the dwelling of an appropriate size for the neighborhood when disadvantaged with a smaller lot.
- The Shaiko property does have alley access and is thus not permitted to enjoy either, or both of these advantages.

Lot Width:

- The minimum required lot width in the NEN zone is 40 feet; the Shaiko property has a width of 24 feet.
- Ninety percent (90%) or 319 of the 353 parcels in the NEN zone have lot width greater than 24 ft (the width of the subject parcel)
- Of the 33 other lots in the zone that have a width of 24 feet or less,
  - 17 are the series of 2-unit townhouses on Bay Ave between 4th & 5th Street that are advantaged by their 0' side yard setback on one side.
  - 9 are attached townhouses on Haven between 6th and 7th St which are advantaged by a 0 foot setback on both sides of the property.
  - The remaining 7 are all in the Southern section, and all enjoy lot depths greater than the subject parcel.
- From a lot width perspective, development of the subject parcel is severely challenged compared to every other lot in NEN zone.

Lot Depth

- The minimum required lot depth in the NEN zone is 100'; the Shaiko property has a depth of 50'.
- Ninety percent (97%) or 344 of the 353 parcels in the NEN zone have lot depth greater than 50 ft (the width of the subject parcel)
- Of the other 8 lots of 50 ft depth, 6 do not have alley access thus, enjoy design advantages of a permissible complete third story and ability to park beneath the building.
- The other 2 lots of 50 ft depth have the advantage of greater lot widths and areas then the subject parcel.
- From a lot depth perspective, development of the subject parcel is severely challenged compared to every other lot in the NEN zone.

Lot Area

- The minimum lot area required in the NEN zone is 4,000 sf; the Shaiko property has 1,200 sf.
- Of the 353 parcels in the NEN zone, 99.4% or 351 of the parcels have lot area greater than 1,200 sf (the area of the subject parcel). Only one other property has less than 1,200 sf and it is located in the Southern section of the district.
- The Shaiko property is the smallest parcel in the entire Northern section of the district.
- From a lot area perspective, development of the subject parcel is severely challenged compared to every other lot in the NEN zone.

Conclusions

- The Shaiko property is severely disadvantaged in its develop potential when compared to all other lots in the NEN zoning district due to its unusually small lot width, lot depth and lot area. The disadvantage is further compounded because it adjoins an alley.
- It has the smallest lot area in the entire Northern section of the zoning district, and only one other lot in the entire district of 353 properties has a smaller lot area.

Ocean City Zoning Board Members Application PBA20-003 Shaiko September 30, 2020 Project No. 32331.01

- These disadvantages create a clear and significant hardship upon the applicant in that development of the lot in a manner consistent with the size and character of other homes in the NEN zoning district cannot be accomplished without the requested variance relief for building height, setbacks, building coverage and floor area ratio requirements.
- Furthermore, the proposed development seeks to eliminate or improve conformance of the lot compared to the existing conditions by:
  - o Increasing the nonconforming front yard setback
  - o Minorly increasing the nonconforming easterly side yard setback
  - Minorly increasing the aggregate side yard setback
  - o Reducing the building coverage from what presently exists.
  - Providing 2 parking spaces where none presently exist
  - Replacing a building whose finished floor is below design flood elevation with one fully compliant with the current construction code requirements.

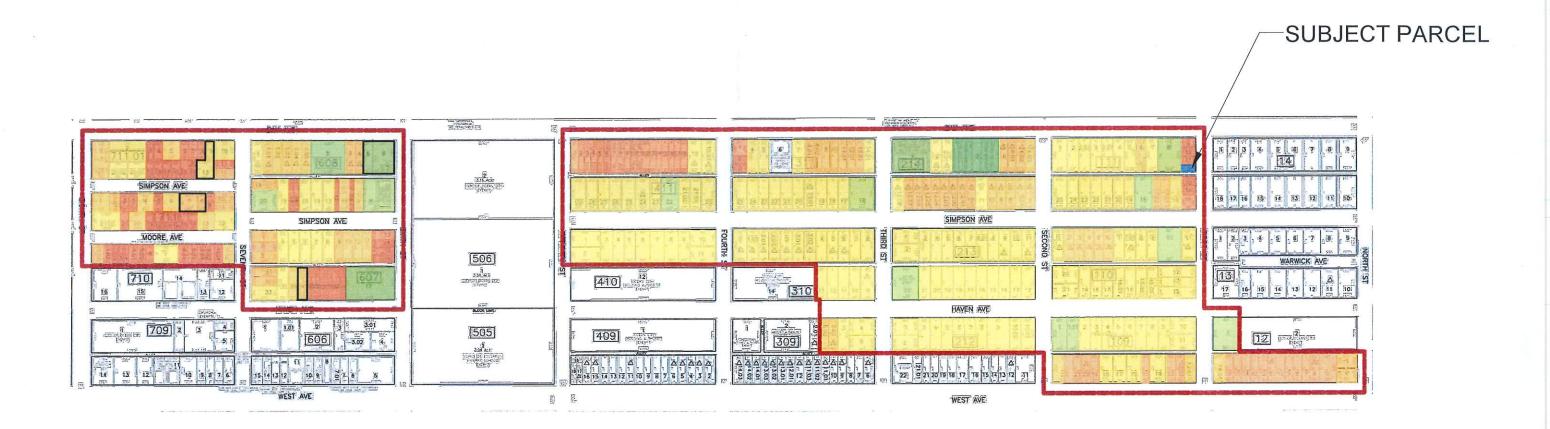

These additional benefits further support the granting of the requested variance relief.

Sincerely,

John E. Halbruner, PE & RA, President
